

Self-revision

 M'inscrire

Friday, June 7, 2019, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
Deadline for registration: May 30, 2019
Lieu : Siège social de l'OTTIAQ
1108-2021, avenue Union
Montréal (métro McGill)

Heures reconnues : 7 h
Langue : En anglais

Droits d'inscription

Membres et candidats à l'exercice : 259 $
Étudiants inscrits auprès de l'OTTIAQ : 129 $
Membres de 65 ans et plus : 129 $
Membres d'un organisme partenaire de l'OTTIAQ et aspirants : 259 $
Non-membres : 450 $

Description

Reviewing your own text is like hanging up a bulky painting—without some help and critical distance, it's nearly impossible to get things right.

Thankfully, however, a number of brilliant language artisans have devised tools and processes to consistently achieve quality, poise and balance in their work.

This all-day seminar explores crafty approaches that make all the difference, from sequence optimization to visual tracking, before moving on to English-specific issues, including punctuation, sentence structure, tricky terms, stylistic tweaks and more.

The day is packed with hands-on exercises so participants can immediately apply what they learn.

No hammer or nails required!

Trainer

Joachim Lépine, Certified Translator

Joachim Lépine, M.Ed., C.Tr., is the owner of Traductions LION and a lecturer at Université de Sherbrooke. He is also the founder of the Regroupement des langagiers de l'Estrie, the coordinator of the OTTIAQ Continuing Education Committee, and a seminar instructor on communication-related topics. His passion is for delivering outstanding translations while helping colleagues and clients to achieve new levels of excellence.